NATO Hears of Soviet Buildup

U.S. Reiterates Charge France Not Keeping Defense Pledges

PARIS (AP)—The NATO nations received today a report of a Soviet buildup in rockets and a new U. S. charge that France is not meeting her defense pledges to cope with Soviet threats.

U. S. Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. told the North Atlantic Alliance that the United States needs more help in keeping Western defenses modernized, and endorses the military substance of a recent speech by Gen. Nathan F. Twining.

Twining, chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, sharply attacked France last week in a secret NATO military meeting for refusing to go along with integration of its forces. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter Tuesday insisted that integration is a vital part of NATO, and in effect supported Twining.

Twining attacked France. Gates spoke today after French Defense Minister Pierre Guillaumat officially protested the American charge that France is shirking and the fact that Twining's speech reached the press. He charged that Twining overstepped military bounds and got into political matters.

Gates said he felt that the United States is within "the competence, right and responsibility of its military to comment on the military effects of political decisions."

Adm. Walter F. Boone, U. S. member of NATO's top-level standing military group, gave the session an intelligence estimate that the Soviet Union has had intercontinental rockets in service for 17 months and has 100 missile bases.

The report on growing Soviet nuclear and rocket power struck closely to figures given out Dec. 2 by the Institute of Strategic Studies, an unofficial British group sponsored by the Ford Foundation. This unofficial report said bases manned by 200,000 men were located in the Soviet Baltic coast, in East Germany, the southern Ukraine and the Carpathian Mountains.

The Soviet Union also was reported to have operational missiles of relatively short range which can be fired from submerged submarines, and to have ordered large quantities of them.

Gates told the meeting, however, that the United States is confident of its present nuclear superiority, both with respect to nuclear weapons and to the means of their delivery.

He said American-made intercontinental and intermediate range ballistic missiles are now operational.

Eager To Produce Missiles

Several NATO nations, he added, are eager to join forces to produce middle-range missiles capable of firing atomic warheads, 1,500 miles. The United States, he added, is studying the project and soon will be able to give full assistance to the project.

"We are determined to make whatever effort and sacrifice the future may require of us to be

C. of C. Retains Null, Picks New Directors

Walter B. Null was re-elected president and four new directors were named when the Salem Area Chamber of Commerce board of directors held its annual meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Null, treasurer of the R. S. McCulloch Co., is currently serving his first term as president.

Other officers named were: Vice president, Robert Oswald, comptroller and vice president of the Farmers National Bank, and treasurer, Milton Steiner, office manager of the Eljer Division of the Murray Corporation.

New directors are Norman Eckfeld, Elden R. Groves, James Aldom and Mr. Oswald.

Holdover directors are Mr. Null, Mr. Steiner, Arch Bricker, Howard Firestone, Robert Hall, Glenn Harding, Curtis Vaughan and Eugene Young.

In commenting on the election of officers, the Chamber declared: "The directors feel that during the past year great steps forward have been taken toward a well-rounded Chamber of Commerce program for the Salem community. In addition to the standard Chamber services offered, the directors have added an Industrial Development program (SAIDC), an off-street parking program and an Urban-Farm relationship program. Other much needed programs are in the planning stage for 1960."

"One of the most important programs for next year will be the initiation of a legislative committee designed to voice the local businessman's viewpoint in governmental affairs. The Chamber board of directors feel that since the Chamber's program of work is still in the formative stage that the retention of Chamber President Walter Null as 1960 president will assure the completion of a well-rounded program of work in the coming year."

"The 1960 directors pledge to Chamber members as well as to Salem citizens that the Salem Area Chamber of Commerce will continue to strive for a better and more prosperous Salem in 1960."

Parking Violators Had Better Pay, Police Chief Warns

Jerry L. Hoyt, 23, of RD. Beloit, was the first person caught in a police department crackdown on overtime parkers who ignore traffic tickets.

The motorist was fined $10 in the mayor's court Tuesday for failure to pay his traffic tickets within 10 days. He was charged with having nine unpaid tickets, dating from July 30 to Dec. 3.

Police Chief Martin Lutsch said today his office would start sending out arrest warrants for those who ignore the letters requesting immediate payment of tickets. He said police sent out more than 200 such letters recently.

The chief also declared he would seek tougher fines. Under the city ordinance, the late ticket payers could be fined $50 for each offense.

Jewelry Taken From Store Is Recovered

Approximately $20 worth of small jewelry, including beads and bracelets, were returned Tuesday afternoon to the Ash Hat Co. at 523 E. State St. by police.

Two youths found the merchandise under some steps at the rear of a building at 371 S. Broadway Ave. Sunday, police said.

Mrs. James Lindsay, of RD. 5, Salem, manager of the store, identified the articles and told police an inventory showed approximately $20 in rings were still missing.

Columbiana to Add Policeman

Sewer Rental Rates Are Increased

COLUMBIANA — Village Council, in its final regular meeting of the year Tuesday night, approved legislation adding another full-time policeman and increasing sewer rates for village residents.

Both measures were passed as emergency measures and will take effect soon after the first of the year.

The additional patrolman will put the police department's strength at three officers and a chief, thereby affording the community around-the-clock protection.

Sewage rental rates will go up the amount requested recently by the Board of Public Affairs to a minimum charge of $3 for the first 5,000 gallons of water used and six cents per thousand for the next 55,000 gallons.

Any use in excess of that amount would be at a rate of four and one-half cents per thousand gallons.

There was a brief discussion of an even larger increase but no action was taken.

New Type Power Line Installed Here Is a 'First'

Electric power officials from Pennsylvania, Warren and Youngstown were in Salem Tuesday morning watching the installation of a new type of power line.

The occasion marked the first time the recently-developed transmission wire has been installed in Ohio, according to James McCoy, head of Ohio Edison's transmission and distribution office in Youngstown.

The new wire offers better protection against tree limbs and makes it easier for the transformers to be hooked into the line.

The difference between the new and the old 4,000-volt lines is in the internal construction which has separated the strands. The linemen making the tap must separate them when working with the old wire.

Approximately 3,000 feet of improved wire is being used in the change-over of wires along S. Lincoln Ave. The project calls for the wires to be strung from a copper line rather than attached to the cross arms of the utility pole as is now done, he said.

This is the same system as used by the telephone company for running its communication lines along the streets.

The public doesn't pay much attention to the improvement of the services, the official lamented, but the new system is expected to reduce the disruptions in current flow caused by falling tree limbs.

Ward Boundary Changes Voted By City Council

Democrats Object; Electric and Gas Rate Hikes Approved

City Council Tuesday night approved 11 ordinances and advanced legislation granting pay increases to the superintendent of utilities and the auditor to third readings.

Warmest discussion on any of the ordinances, excluding the income tax measure, came on the legislation to change the boundary lines of the four wards. It was passed by a six-to-one vote.

Third Ward Councilman Harold Astry, Democratic city chairman, opposed the measure and charged the planned change "hasn't had enough study and that someone is reluctant to give it more study. I can't see any reason for running it through," he declared.

The vote split along party lines on Astry's motion to delay final action on the ward change. Democratic Councilman - at - large Fred Koenreich seconded it, but after the five Republican councilmen voted against the delay, Koenreich voted for the change on the second vote on the issue.

Koenreich said he had been trying to change the present ward boundaries for "two, three, four years to make voting more equal." He declared the First Ward and the Fourth Ward are too large.

Republican Council members all felt the proposed change was about as fair and equal as it could be made.

Also approved by Council last night were:

Rate increase for the Ohio Edison Company. Effective Jan. 15, the average consumer's bill will climb 50 cents a month.

Rate increase for the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. which will be effective in approximately 30 days. It calls for a 48 cent increase in the price of natural gas each month for the average user.

Fund Transfers Made

Fund transfers of $1,750 to police department; $100 to auditor's office; $485 to solicitor's office; $4,400 to the street department; $500 to street lights and $262 to traffic paint.

A first reading was given to a change in the zoning code. The proposed measure would require the filing of building plans carrying the approval of the state building inspector's office with the city before construction could start.

Council also accepted the real estate tax millage for the city as certified by the County Budget Commission, $38.70 per $,000 of property valuation.

Legislators authorized the Park Commission, $38.70 per $1,000 of the construction of a street into Memorial Park and the letting of a three-year concession contract at the parks.

Applause, Coolness Greet Governor

Rockefeller Gets Mixed Reception In Wisconsin

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller started his second round of political probing in Wisconsin today, after running into a very mixed reception on his first day in the state.

Reactions ranged from studied coolness to admiring applause.

Milwaukee Republican officials made it crystal clear that they want Vice President Richard M. Nixon as the party's candidate for president.

Other Wisconsin Republicans, however, indicated they might support Rockefeller for the nomination.

For the first time on this tour of the Middle West, Rockefeller failed to draw capacity crowds for his appearances. There were empty seats in the Marquette University auditorium and in the meeting of the World Affairs Council.

"Some Democrats say you are as reactionary as Nixon," said a man, "and other people call you a Democrat in Republican cloth-

Each troop of Girl Scouts and Brownies is working on some community service project to brighten the holidays for shut-ins and needy families.

The chorus will sing at the corner of State St. and Broadway Monday night, then divide into four groups to go caroling throughout the city. The chorus, organized and directed by Mrs. Raymond Silver, will sing for the Rotary Club's party for crippled children Dec. 22.

U. S. Plane Soars to New World Record

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The man who has soared higher than any other human can't give much of a description of how it looks nearly 20 miles above the earth.

He didn't have time for a good look.

"It was still blue—but perceptibly darker," said Capt. Joe B. Jordan after piloting an Air Force Star Fighter to a world altitude record of 103,395.5 feet Tuesday.

Jordan said he got one fast look out of the cockpit at the peak of his flight. He said he could see the Gulf of California, 300 miles to the south.

Jordan shut off the turbo-jet engine of his Lockheed F104C at 92,000 feet and coasted the rest of the way up. He said it was "a real thrill going over the top."

The record is subject to confirmation by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale. It exceeds by 4,835.5 feet an altitude mark claimed Dec. 6 by a Navy fighter which in turn had bettered a Soviet record.

The Starfighter also claims a world time-to-climb record for 30,000 meters. It took the jet 15 minutes, 4.92 seconds to reach 98,424-foot mark, after break release on the runway at Edwards Air Force Base, 100 miles north of Los Angeles.

Jordan, of Sweeney, Tex., found radar men on the ground couldn't track him because he went so high.

"One of them wanted to see how far I could really go on the screen," he said. "I flew right off the top."

Public Meeting Called Dec. 23 To Discuss Tax

Councilmen Agree To Postpone Final Action to Dec. 29

City Council Tuesday night voted unanimously to delay final action on the proposed city income tax ordinance until Dec. 29.

The vote for a "second reading only" followed pleas from individuals and groups, including the Salem Area Chamber of Commerce, that Council give more consideration and explanation to the matter.

Councilmen, prior to the request for a delay by Chamber officials, had expected to vote into existence the six-tenths of one per cent tax which would go into effect Feb. 1.

After giving the ordinance, which is expected to add between $180,000 and $200,000 annually to the city treasury, its second reading, Council scheduled a public airing of the bill for Dec. 23. The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Memorial Building.

When Finance Chairman Fred Koenreich, Democratic Councilman-at-large, requested the second reading by title only, he announced Council was "going to have to delay the program."

Extensive Study Made
Council is going to have to get together with the Manufacturers Association, Chamber of Commerce, local labor and the Salem Area Industrial Development Corporation and "thrash this thing out."

"We're not trying to shove anything down anyone's throat," the finance committee chairman told the small group of spectators attending the meeting. He added Council has been eyeing an income tax since 1956.

"We've spent too much time on this thing to get kicked around this way," Koenreich told fellow legislators.

Most of the city lawmakers were willing to go along with a request by Ronald Leigh, executive secretary of the Chamber, who asked that his group, the SAIDC and the retail merchants be given time to sit down with Council and study the tax program and needs.

Council also heard requests from two local attorneys that final action on the income tax be held up.

Hunston Cites Industry Blow

Atty. Walter J. Hunston, head of Salem Plastics Inc., urged that Council "delay passage of this ordinance until such time as an objective appraisal can be made of the entire economic picture."

Hunston cited the effects on SAIDC, warned new industries would settle outside the city, stated the city is "already out of bounds on our school taxes" and charged too many groups are going in "too many directions at one time."

He questioned the advisability of passing an income tax at a time when the city's industrial payroll has just reached its lowest point in five years.

Atty. George Bowman asked for a delay if possible and that a more thorough study of the two bids submitted for setting up the tax department.

He questioned Council's decision to award the job to the J. Emerson Davis Co. of Youngstown. The losing bidder for the contract to establish an income tax here, Brooks & Associates of Salem, Alliance and Youngstown has charged Council didn't check its references. The firm's bid of $7,500 was $3,000 lower than the Davis offer. Council says it checked on tax departments established by other groups.

World's 'Icebox' Yielding Surprises

Scientists Unraveling Antarctica's Mysteries

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The ice curtain of mystery surrounding Antarctica is starting to melt. For the fifth straight year, scores of scientists are poking, prowling, exploring — and shivering — in the vast icebox at the bottom of the world. They've already turned up some surprises, with more to come.

Antarctica's fields of ice are so vast, they find, that the earth must contain about 50 per cent more ice than ever suspected before. At one known point, it's nearly three miles deep.

And Antarctica is seemingly warming up, at least at Little America. Average temperature there is about five degrees warmer than 45 years ago.

If all this ice melted, oceans would rise 200 feet or more, drowning great seaports, towns and hamlets around the world.

It's a huge cold weather factory, influencing weather not only in the Southern Hemisphere, but probably the Northern hemisphere as well. Soviet scientists recorded the world's record low temperature at one of their bases — 125.3 degrees below zero.

Scientific sleuthing is unmasking a disguise. For Antarctica is apparently not all one huge continent. Its western half seemingly is a great collection of islands and mountains glued together by a thick sheet of covering ice.

Petrified wood and coal have been found far inland, adding to evidence that Antarctica once basked in tropical or semi-tropical climate, ice-free. Strange dry valleys are being found far inland.

Most importantly, Antarctica no longer is a great void of ignorance on this planet, says Ross Peavey, deputy executive director of the U.S. National Committee for the International Geophysical year.

The scientific assault on Antarctica began in 1955, when Navy ships and planes and IGY scientists started setting up the initial IGY posts.

When the 18-month IGY ended last Dec. 31, scientists had gathered 27 tons of data, which still are being analyzed.

This year, three American groups are making long treks by tractor-trains and airplane into unknown areas. Soviet scientists also have struck forward on a new and often dangerous trail across half the continent. During IGY, scientists of five nations covered 1,500 miles, discovering ice depths and ice-covered terrain.

This year's explorations promise to answer the puzzle of whether Antarctica is split by a huge trough running from the Weddell Sea to the Ross Sea. And whether the areas of Western Antarctica in reality are ice-joined islands or an archipelago.

Striking deep inland in Eastern Antarctica, Soviet scientists found evidence that that area truly is a continental land mass — but its full extent is not yet known.

In Marie Byrd Land, Americans found ice 14,000 feet thick, resting on bed rock 8,200 feet below sea level. At the South Pole itself, ice measures 8,297 feet deep, but still above sea level. These were bits of evidence for boosting up estimates of the world's total frozen water, to a present estimate of about 4 1/2 million cubic miles of ice.

But once the tremendous icecap was even thicker and more extensive. Mountain tops which now thrust thousands of feet above the ice show signs of having been scoured by glaciers.

Primitive plant life is being analyzed for clues to the past retreats and advances of glaciers and icecap. Ingenious analyses show some antarctic rocks have been kept cold for 100,000 years.

Two Ohio Slayers Granted Clemency

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two slayers serving life terms were granted executive clemency Tuesday, making them eligible for immediate parole consideration.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle commuted the first-degree murder sentences of Ernest Kahn, 65, of Akron, and Waldo Tippins, 59, of Marietta, to second-degree.

DiSalle said his actions were the first on 53 long-pending cases. He added that the Pardon and Parole Commission had recommended clemency for both men but no previous administration action was taken. Life-terms must serve 20 years before being given consideration.

Kahn has served 25 years for the slaying of Rufus Autrey during a card game argument. He entered Ohio Penitentiary in 1935 and has recently been in the Marion Correctional Institution. His children in Pennsylvania have agreed to care for him, DiSalle said.

Tippins was convicted in the robbery slaying of John Conrad in 1930 with two companions, Clay Sims who struck the fatal blow and Raymond Sliders who died in prison. Tipping is in the Marion institution.

Canaveral Ban On Newsmen Is Rescinded

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Maj. Donald N. Yates, who ordered newsmen barred from missile launches because of a news service story, lifted the ban Tuesday.

The commander of the missile test center said his action—in effect 24 hours—was based on a misunderstanding.

Rescinding of the ban by Yates came after a strongly worded telegram from Lyle Wilson, vice president of United Press International in Washington, denying Yates' charges that a UPI story Saturday violated an agreement not to pinpoint the date of a future space probe.

Wilson said the story was based on information from independent sources in Washington, not on briefings at the test center.

The story, carrying a Washington dateline, told of plans to send a rocket to the vicinity of the planet Venus and into orbit around the sun. It said the firing would be Tuesday.

After the story appeared, the launching was postponed for technical reasons.

The Air Force general told reporters Monday at his weekly news briefing that the news service had violated an agreement not to release the launching date.

As a result, Yates said, for the time being he would not brief reporters on future military launches nor allow them to cover such launches from the press site here.

Scientific launches by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration were not affected by the ban, and no military rockets were fired while it was in effect.

Wilson's telegram to Yates said the UPI would accept reasonable regulations of news coverage at the test center but "we will not permit long to endure your interference in news coverage here in Washington."

HE'S AHEAD $10,000

cle's attic, Probate Judge Chase M. Davies ruled Tuesday. But the judge said $16,114 that Shumate found in a safe in the home of his uncle, Dr. E. V. Stewart, goes into the uncle's estate. Shumate said the doctor, also a business associate, had given him the combination to the safe as well as a map for the treasure hunt.

Woman Confesses Husband's Slaying

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—The wife of a North Ridgeville auto plant worker has admitted killing her husband, but claims she only meant to frighten him, reports Lorain County Sheriff Vernon M. Smith.

Mrs. Madelin Mae Duncan, 29, signed a statement Tuesday admitting the slaying, said Sheriff Smith. Her husband, Raymond, 33, was shot twice in the head Sunday as he lay on a couch in the Duncan home. Mrs. Duncan, the sheriff said, claimed the shooting followed an argument over another woman.

Duncan's half-brother, Thomas L. Tyree, 17, confessed the shooting but later repudiated the story. Deputies said a lie detector test bore out Tyree's contention that he confessed the slaying to protect Mrs. Duncan. He was held in county jail along with the woman.

At first, Mrs. Duncan said she could remember nothing of the slaying except that she had not done it. Before taking a lie detector test Tuesday in Shaker Heights, she broke into tears and admitted shooting her husband with a rifle, the sheriff said.

VANDALS ARE PENALIZED
CLEVELAND (AP) — "Sheer, senseless vandalism," Judge Albert A. Woldman of Juvenile Court called the spray-painting of 16 cars last Nov. 20 by a trio of West Side 16-year-old boys. The judge ordered them to pay damages of more than $1,000, revoked the driving rights of the boy who drove them around on the night of the vandalism, and committed them to a detention home while parents seek placement in other schools.

FORMER OFFICER CITED
IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — John Studenka, 46, of Portsmouth, was arrested here Tuesday on two state warrants charging him with passing worthless checks. Police said Studenka, a former highway patrolman, is also wanted in Chillicothe on similar charges.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

I've been working on the railroad "crisis." There is a way to disrupt the timetables of America without a major strike of a transcontinental line, railroaders have been telling me.

Victor Riesel

What the upper echelon of railroad men are watching for, they say, are the "little" strikes on the "tiny" unknown lines of which there are 222. I'm startled to learn on this land voyage of discovery.

If any of a number of the small key lines were stalled, most of America would slow down in a week. Rail operators say they believe this might be rail labor's strategy. There would be no national emergency. We'd just sort of limp along.

Why? Because these are the terminal and switching lines. They go no place. They move freight cars from one depot or yard to another inside or just at the edge of a big town. If five or six of these Lilliputian lines were hit in New York or Chicago or Kansas City or St. Paul-Minneapolis or St. Louis, freight cars moving east and west and south would stand still or go at snail's pace from line to line.

FOR EXAMPLE, a few freight cars have just come into Chicago on one line from Omaha. These cars are heading east, say for New York. Others have come up from the south, say on the Illinois Central and from St. Louis, also bound for New York.

Somewhere in the Chicago conrol center an electric brain begins operating. The switches are opened. The cars move automatically onto one rail. They couple. They now are ready for a transfer to another yard — perhaps the New York Central — to be hitched to a fast freight for New York.

A "little line" of which I had not heard until I rode the rails the other day, by the name of Indiana Harbor Belt Line, sends over a locomotive ("engine" is better jargon). This is tied to the waiting freight cars. They are then moved to the new yard and so on to the East.

If IHB was struck there would be no actual paralysis. The big lines could shunt their freight cars from yard to yard. But the IHB is the specialist. It is equipped and it is knowledgeable. Last year, alone, it transferred 1,224,000 cars.

If it were tied up, the big lines would have to get Interstate Commerce Commission permission to shift the freight via other routes.

THEN YOU would have the cars meandering like hoboes from yard to yard round about from city to city and finally to their destination. But after a long while.

This also could happen to switch lines in other cities. Imagine a strike at the THRA (Terminal Railway Assn.) in St. Louis. The outfit is jointly owned by 14 railroads and interconnected with nine others, all crisscrossing the area in several directions.

Then there's the Minnesota Transfer Co. in the St. Paul-Minneapolis district, in which nine different railroads are involved.

In Chicago, the Belt Railway Co. is owned by 12 carriers and interconnected with 19 more lines.

In Kansas City, there's the Terminal Railway.

As the railroaders explain it, a strike on just these few would stall thousands of cars. Before they could be unsnarled and re-routed, they would start piling up on sidings and even on some main lines.

Once the freight cars began clogging the sidings, passenger trains would be affected. If the strike lasted a week, the timetables of the nation would be as useful as a wine list at a Women's Christian Temperance Union convention.

YET THERE WOULD not be any real national emergency on the nation's 220,000-mile rail system. Everything would be moving. The government would not be in a position for seizure or other drastic action.

A check with union spokesmen, however, revealed that they vehemently reject any charge or insinuation that they plan to strike. Rail labor leaders point out they have rarely struck. They say they will continue to bargain for their demands without striking.

They say they will call out their men only if the railroads change the work rules without previous agreement with the five operating and 11 non-operating unions with some 850,000 workers.

If a crew is shortened or work eliminated, the unions will consider this a lockout of some of its members. Then all of them on one line will walk out. That, I believe, is a fair estimate of their position.

Castro Foresees Invasion of Cuba

HAVANA (AP)—With his military courts again in full swing, Prime Minister Fidel Castro expressed belief today that there will be an invasion of Cuba in 1960.

"Next year we will have to defend the revolution with weapons in hand," Castro declared in a televised, 4½-hour speech. "It will come because there is a great campaign outside and here.

I hope I am wrong, but they will come. I am sure we will annihilate them."

He didn't say who they would be.

The bearded prime minister jibed at labor and racial conflicts in the United States to cheers from his immediate audience, about 1,200 delegates of the Congress of Sugar Workers.

Of the growing reluctance of American tourists to come to Cuba, Castro said: "Why do they tell the tourists not to come to Cuba? Perhaps they are afraid the example of Cuba will become the example of America."

Castro's military courts meanwhile picked up speed.

A tribunal in Havana sentenced Maj. Hubert Matos, who resigned as commander of Camaguey province troops last Oct. 19 with a blast against communism, to 20 years in prison for sedition. Castro had been a star witness against his old comrade in arms. Twenty-one officers who defected with Matos drew terms of two to seven years. Thirteen others were acquitted.

The Human Sea At New Delhi

As Americans read reports of the reception President Eisenhower is getting on his good will mission, they are apt to concentrate on the tribute to his personality and the nation he represents.

This is certainly important, and it is one of the reasons he decided to make the arduous journey—to find out what people in other lands think of the United States. But there is another reason for his trip, equally important in the President's mind, that his constituents are prone to overlook.

It is the reverse flow, the reaction this nation must have to the throngs of people who pour out to greet its leader and hear the message he brings to them.

THIS PROBABLY reached its high point in his three-week tour, when a crowd estimated at more than a million Indians jammed into New Delhi's Ram Lila Park to hear the President's farewell address.

By American standards it was inconceivable, dwarfing the thousands who turn out for World Series games or major football contests. Even by Indian standards, it was an unprecedented event, Prime Minister Nehru called it the greatest civic reception he had ever seen.

Mr. Eisenhower was no doubt justifiably impressed by the sight. But equally with his personal reaction to the tribute, he must have been overwhelmed by the responsibility placed on Americans to return the favor—not necessarily with gifts of money and technicians and food, but with basic understanding of Asians.

standing of Asians.

Asia contains masses of people as inconceivable to Americans as the single crowd that turned out in New Delhi. They are the living reality of some of the world's greatest problems, such as hunger and overcrowding and poverty.

They loom large on the world scene not only because there are more of them than ever before, but also because the colonial yoke that kept them out of mind for centuries has been lifted and they are playing an increasingly influential role in world affairs.

NO DOUBT an understanding of some of these things came more strongly to the President as he looked out over that sea of Indians than ever before in his international experience.

There was another factor that can mean a good deal to Americans. It is that the sea of Indians looked at the man who symbolizes America with something akin to worship.

In other words, Red China does not have a monopoly on Asian hordes. There are millions of Asians who are friendly toward, not enemies of, the United States. The throng that saw President Eisenhower in New Delhi represented the counterbalance to Red China's population, which has frightened so many Westerners into pessimistic despair over the future.

That is probably what Mr. Eisenhower thought when he looked out over Ram Lila Park.

Rocks At Rest In the Glass House

The 1959 session of the United Nations General Assembly closed, quite fittingly, with a compromise settlement between East and West on whether Poland or Turkey should get the vacant seat on the Security Council. Eventually they both will.

Compromise was the keynote of the extra-long session. There were no earth-shaking decisions, no headline-capturing moves interpreted as great strides toward international peace.

Those who take an impatient view of the world body's effectiveness no doubt interpret this as proof of their contention that the U.N. might as well not exist for all the good it does.

But they fail to take account of the importance of compromise in the U.N., which was originally conceived as a place where nations could air their bitterest conflicts without resorting to force.

So many times in the past has this intention been frustrated or perverted by vetoes and boycotts and police actions and small wars that a session marked by compromise can be deemed a great stride toward world peace.

Any compromise must necessarily be a temporary solution. But war is only a temporary solution to international problems, too. And compromise is a safer bridge to permanent settlement than war can ever be.

It has been said that the 1959 U.N. session was governed by the conciliatory nature of the talks between President Eisenhower and Nikita Khrushchev at Camp David last fall. If this is true, the relative peace in the glass halls on the East River in Manhattan may be as tenuous as the relative peace which the Eisenhower-Khrushchev change of visits has brought to the world.

But it would be foolhardy to underestimate the potential value of such an unprecedented action as the joint sponsorship by the United States and the Soviet Union of an outer space committee, or to write off the significance of an agreement to settle a bitter fight over a Security Council seat.

President Eisenhower has said the time has come to explore every avenue that may lead to world peace. If compromise at the U.N. can open one of those avenues, it is no small thing.

All We Know About Drug Costs

Estes Kefauver and his Senate snoopers may be on a hot trail with their drug-cost investigation. They may find out that the drug manufacturers have been doing something that could be described as collusion to keep prices high, and that would be important. Tst, Tst. Everybody's doing it, but it's still bad.

But at the outset of this particular investigation, the thing that lights up the sky with interest is a problem that keeps looming larger for low-income users of high-priced drugs. It is not an easy thing to discuss, because it borders on morbidity.

When the kindly, highly professional, wonderfully trained and all-wise doctor completes his examination, purses his lips and barks, "Take this prescription to the drug store and come back to see me in a week," some of us who have been through this routine before shudder and feel worse.

The cost of the miracle drug that has been prescribed is so high it raises a question that never used to come into consideration: What's it worth to keep ourselves alive? Of course, if it's a question of keeping our children or our relatives alive, the answer is, "Anything. Hang the expense." But when it's personal, there begins to be doubt about diminishing returns.

Would we or would we not be better off if we swallowed the money? We may not get well anyway.

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

How about calling a customer in some Senate probe into the high cost of pills. We can hear it now:

Q. We put you on the stand as a man who pays and pays and pays. How do you feel?

A. I'm doing as well as could be expected by a fellow who has no credit card at drugstores.

Q. Do you think yourself a typical pill taker?

A. Yes sir, and I haven't missed a new pill in years, give or take a few that cost so much I thought they came under the head of jewelry.

Q. Have these pills helped?

A. When I began taking them my troubles were minor. Now I am in desperate shape both physically and financially.

Q. Did you take these costly pills on the doctor's advice?

A. Yeah, but how did I know his diploma was from a business college?

Q. Have you been able to get any of these $10 and $15 a bottle wonder pills?

A. Are there any other kind?

Q. Would you mind listing your ailments?

A. I seem to develop only ailments helpful to the drug manufacturers. I had a touch of arthritis that got so severe the remedies I took enabled four drug firms to build new plants and raise dividends.

Q. What do you think of the drugmakers' testimony that laboratory research makes high price of capsules necessary?

A. I think laboratory research is being confused with dry cleaning and gold prospecting.

Q. Can the drugstores help charging what they do?

A. All I know is that no longer can I stop on the way out with money enough left to buy a cigar.

A NEW YORK BANK has put an ice-skating show in its front window. We went in for a loan and, when the banker asked us what for, we replied we wanted it for skating lessons.

The U.N. General Assembly voted reporters may "gather" but not "seek" news in all countries. That gives you an idea of this screwball age. No reporter would last overnight on any paper if he took the attitude, "I ain't digging news; I'm just a gatherer." But 30 nations voted for a press policy that would require correspondents to say, "I'm not seeking any information. Just checking on the gathering situation."

SPEAKING OF "PLUGS" ON TV, Art Linkletter uses kids to plug his own book about kids!

Harry Truman won't even concede that Ike carried Pakistan and India.

All Democratic presidential hopefuls gathered at the big banquet in Gotham. Never did so many candidates seem so nervous under one roof. Their warmth for one another was so pronounced it could have been used in a demonstration of "frozen feuds." Chesapeake & Ohio Road threw a champagne ball for stockholders. You mean there is a railroad left that can afford to buy wine! I!

New York has ruled that any kid, 16 who is a "learner" must be accompanied at wheel by somebody 18 years old or more. But where does anybody get the idea a lad of 18 isn't still a learner? In today's traffic a driver is still learning something new when he is middle-aged. In fact a lot of middle-aged folks drive as if still flunking the course.

Kennedy's Embarrassment

By RAYMOND MOLEY

It seems to most reasonable people that President Eisenhower has made the most sensible suggestion about the invasion of some foreign lands by hordes of new babies.

His idea is that the distribution of information and the means of controlling the size of families should be the responsibility of private organizations. The government, he holds, is certainly not the agency to use for such a purpose.

The United States has many private organizations and agencies dedicated to the welfare of heathen lands. No nation except medieval Islam has had so ardent a zeal for reforming other people. Those organizations have money and personnel for the purpose.

To use government for such a purpose, which mingles religious, racial, and other emotional concerns, would be the worst of all perversions of tax money.

Despite the President's statement, the controversy goes on, with a serious impact on presidential candidates, especially on Sen. John Kennedy.

It is NOT CLEAR which side started the fuss. A latent feeling among many Protestant divines that a Roman Catholic should not be President has been fanned into a flame. And members of the Roman Catholic clergy have firmly stated the position of their church against the dissemination of such information and especially against the use of government money for such a purpose.

Some have also gone so far as to say that a Catholic President should veto any measure requiring any such action by a government agency.

There are many Catholics — and I am not suggesting that this includes the members of the clergy who have been vocal on the subject — who sincerely believe that, despite the injustice to Sen. Kennedy, it would serve the interests of amity among religious groups if a Roman Catholic were not a candidate.

The ignition of the old fire which burned so fiercely when Gov. Alfred E. Smith ran for the presidency has had a profound effect upon Democratic political leaders.

A correspondent in the Middle West who interviewed some of the reports grave concern. One of those leaders, who will have a good deal to do with the selection of the Democratic candidate next summer, said:

"I have not the slightest doubt in my own mind that Jack Kennedy will not allow anything to come between him and what is best for his country. The average voter will not look at the problem in that way. And so I say, 'Why borrow trouble?' If Kennedy is the candidate, we are in for a vicious campaign that could destroy the entire Democratic Party."

Too Much Leisure

By WARD CANNEL

Comes now further testimony that this nation is in dread jeopardy from a growing ailment called Leisure.

This time the expert witness is Prof. Harold Wilensky, a widely respected sociologist at the University of Michigan. His prediction: in spite of more pay for fewer hours of work, Americans are scurrying into narrower and narrower lives.

With the workweek at an average of 41.5 hours—the lowest in the history of civilization and about to go lower—Wilensky's research describes American leisure time as a "retreat" into a small circle of the TV set, immediate family and a few close friends.

High on Wilensky's list of reasons are today's mass entertainments and their associated promotional activities.

"THEY REACH MILLIONS directly with potentially isolating effects. They are cumulative in impact and they accent the values of private consumption," he says.

If his prediction comes true and leisure does lead to loneliness it will be an explosion in economy. For at the most conservative (U.S. Census Bureau) figure, leisure time spending in this nation amounts to a staggering $34 billion annually. And a breakdown of the total shows that we are already spending two-fifths of that money for "retreat" (alcohol, TV, radio, records, etc.).

Further proof for the professor's case comes from the National Recreation Association. A survey on how Americans spend their leisure reveals that eight out of 10 of our off-the-job activities are sedentary and apart.

But if the retreat is coming, it marks a bigger change in the U.S. than the corruption of a $34 billion industry.

It will mark the end of what anthropologist Margaret Mead sums up as "the persistent belief that all leisure—all—must be earned by work and good works."

ALREADY DISAPPEARING is the reward of a big Saturday night for a long week's toil. In the past century the work week has declined by 30 hours while real wages have steadily increased.

Ivy League Pledge

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Inconsistent with Schools' Stand on Loyalty Oath

Some of the Eastern colleges which have refused to allow their students to sign "loyalty oaths" so as to conform to federal law governing loans to students are now facing strong criticism for their own inconsistencies. They themselves impose a species of "loyalty oath" which goes further in impugning the rights of the individual than anything required by Congress.

The so-called "Ivy Group Agreement," which is a treaty between Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Pennsylvania, Brown, Cornell, Columbia and Dartmouth, consists of two closely printed pages containing 10 restrictive provisions and requiring the most detailed information, together with a series of pledges.

These include a complete disclosure of how much money the student is to receive from his family, from relatives and from any occupation throughout each year, and an itemized statement as to what sources, including savings, are to be used in financing his education.

The "loyalty oath" reads as follows:

"I certify that the information here provided is accurate and complete and that I believe I am eligible to compete as an amateur in the college I am now attending."

"I have read and agreed to abide by the policies and spirit of the Ivy Group Agreement."

This must be signed once a year during each of the four years of attendance. But it goes beyond the four sport seasons themselves. The athlete must swear that he will not participate in any "post-season" games even if he receives no compensation.

TWO SENIORS at the University of Pennsylvania, which won the football championship of the Ivy League last month, were recently invited to play in a North-South postseason game of the colleges. While they had already completed their football careers, as undergraduates, their own university was threatened with a forfeiture of the championship if they played. They obeyed the edict.

Mike Pyle, who played center on the Yale football team this year, had this to say about the Ivy Group Agreement in a recent issue of "Sports Illustrated":

"Ivy League athletes should have the same opportunity as anyone else to a postseason game. Every time I sign the Ivy League Code I have an evil taste in my mouth. It's just a silly two-page document and I don't believe in it but I have to sign it in order to play. I don't think the Ivy League has been fair to the athlete."

This particular athlete, an honor student, happens to have a father who is able to pay his way through college but seemingly there is a tendency to suspect all those who may be working their way.

The college authorities scrutinize every dollar of income a student receives to see if it comes from some outside source interested in helping an athlete.

Indeed, the Ivy Group Agreement goes so far as to prohibit any athlete from "engaging for money or other substantial consideration in any occupation, business transaction or advertising promotion wherein his usefulness or value arises chiefly from the publicity value of his name as an athlete or his ability as an athlete, etc."

IS IT FAIR to inquire into the personal finances and occupations of every student just because he is an athlete?

Can't he be trusted by taking a simple oath of allegiance to his college and the cause of amateur athletics?

Why must the students who happen to be athletes undergo a minute inspection of their personal affairs?

When Congress asks a student who applies for a government loan to take an oath of allegiance to his own government and to sign also only a simple paragraph which says he is not a member of any organization seeking to overthrow the government of the United States by force or violence, some of the spokesmen for Ivy League colleges condemn this as an "affront" and "coercion" and an insult to the students.

The American Council on Education calls it "superfluous" and "interference." The theory is that it pries into the private affairs of the student and makes him swear to something he doesn't intend to do anyway.

Loyalty to the government, it is argued, should be taken for granted. Then why shouldn't amateur standing and professional behavior be taken for granted, too?

THE ANSWER is that some form of pledge is felt to be necessary by the college authorities to conform to what is referred to as "The policies and the spirit of the Ivy Group Agreement."

The eight colleges concerned have formed a governing body and they rightly desire to prevent any professionalism.

The agreement may be too detailed and too restrictive, yet its general spirit is understandable. What isn't understandable is why the representatives of at least four of the Ivy League colleges and the Association of University Professors have spoken out against the "loyalty oath" requirements which Congress thinks would assist our government in stamping out Communism and subversive activities.

It is well known that the Communist technique is to try to infiltrate members of the faculty as well as students of universities everywhere in carrying on anti-American propaganda.

Criticizes Tax Action

Several editions of your paper last week carried local news items of major importance to the City of Salem. On Tuesday, a front page headline read: "High Taxes No Deterrent to New Industries, C. of C. Told." This was state expert C. H. Heath's answer to Mr. Vaughan's loaded question, and is almost epochal since it refutes a basic concept most people have, that high taxes do not necessarily represent more and better services.

This article further quotes Mr. Heath, "Workers in These High Tax Cities Are Going to Have Something They Are Proud Of: A Good Place to Live." Now isn't that nice? Perhaps we should double our tax rate.

Silent factories and empty buildings in our business district, and the dark office spaces on the second and third floors are mute evidence that something is presently amiss.

Moral for Tuesday — An Expert May Be Anyone Away From Home.

Wednesday Headline — "City Income Tax Submitted by Council."

The city operating deficit has been about $25,000 a year. New tax estimated to raise $180,000 a year. Cost of setting up tax plan and collecting tax estimated $30,000 next year.

By simple arithmetic this means tax additions of some seven times the extra amount that would have been required to balance the city budget this year. I also means adding a new non-productive expense greater than the anticipated deficit for next year.

Just last month the citizens of Salem by ballot, rejected the storm sewer project. The largest item selected by Council on which to spend the new revenue is this same storm sewer project. What price democracy now?

Moral for Wednesday—"The City Fathers Know More Ways to Kill a Cat in an Emergency Than to Choke Him to Death on Hot Butter."

Thursday — The important city news was "Industrial Plant Payrolls Show Drop." Collective industrial payrolls for last month $1,208,096. Payrolls for the corresponding months in the last two years were $1,608,171 and $1,513,737.

In other words the November average for the two preceding years was almost 30 per cent higher than for last month, despite the upward wage trend.

Moral for Thursday — The Well May Run Dry.

Friday Headline — "Council OKs Contract for Income Tax Work." This article said, in effect, that a closed committee decided to ink a contract with the Youngstown firm of J. Emerson Davis if the proposed income tax is passed. It further states that the decision was made after extensive study of the work done in other cities by both Davis and company and the unsuccessful bidder, Brooks & Associates, a concern with offices in Salem, even though the Davis bid was 40 per cent higher.

The report states that the two plans submitted are almost identical, but that Davis has promised a house to house canvass to collect certain factual data pertinent to the tax.

Assuming the canvass will be made, the question becomes: Is it worth $3,000 to the taxpayers? Why? Will this canvass or other extra service produce $3,000 more revenue? How?

Assuming the people are sufficiently resigned to the inevitable it is now safe to start a new spending program. The above chain of events covered in the past week is as old as government itself.

Navy Launches Polaris Missile In Night Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., (AP)—The Navy launched its Polaris submarine missile on its first after-dark test Tuesday night.

It was the first solid-fuel missile fired at night here and appeared as a bright white shaft in the sky in contrast to the orange ball effect produced by liquid-fuel rockets.

Sources reported the night launching was requested by the Air Force to permit gathering of information on color and intensity of solid-propellant rocket exhausts.

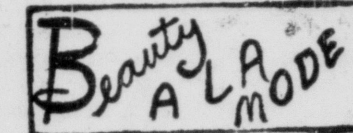

This data is needed to determine the optical tracking requirements for the Air Force Minuteman, a solid-fuel intercontinental range ballistic missile which is expected to start tests here late next year.

Truck drivers of Teamsters Local 964 struck the Auto Transport Co. and the Dealers Transport Co. because other firms were taking over the lucrative long hauls. The strike ended Tuesday after an all-night negotiating session.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm burning up at that busybody who sounded off about girls who HAD to get married. These big-mouth gossips so often count wrong and blacken a girl's name for no good reason except that they like to talk.

I was married in a church. We had a big wedding and I wore white and deserved to, if you get the point.

I became pregnant the first week of my honeymoon and our baby was born exactly two days less than nine months after the wedding. The gossips in town were certainly busy counting and a few had the nerve to mention to my mother that "I was a few days short."

Any doctor will tell you a baby can be two weeks early as well as two weeks late. So let the busybodies read this and think twice before they try to ruin a girl's name.—EARLY BIRD.

Dear Early Bird: From the way the mail ran on this subject, there are more early babies than late ones.

You are correct, of course, and thank you for writing.

No Kissin' Kin

Dear Ann: I finally got the nerve to write you this letter. I will make it short and snappy.

My husband comes from a large family. There's always a wedding, confirmation, birthday, funeral, anniversary or something doing. These are the kissin'est people I've ever seen. I come from a family that is somewhat reserved. We love and respect each other, but we don't kiss hello and goodbye.

I prefer to shake hands but my husband says his family would consider this an insult. They think I'm stuck-up as it is.

Shall I kiss them even though it makes me uncomfortable? Or shall I be natural and extend my hand?—NO KISSER.

Dear No Kissers: Don't kiss just to be polite. You aren't fooling anyone. Feeling as you do, your hello and goodbye kisses are probably as cold as the handles on a steel casket. Shake hands and let it go at that.

Beauty Lover

Dear Ann: I know this problem is ridiculous but it's been a real worry and I need outside help.

I belong to a top sorority and attend Oklahoma State University.

I'm a good-looking girl who has plenty of dates. The problem is I simply cannot get interested in a fellow unless he is handsome. I know it's wrong but fellows who are homely are repulsive to me.

The awful thing is that I've fallen for several boys who were handsome and then couldn't stand them because they were stupid, boring or two-timers. You'd think I would have learned my lesson, but no—I still am impressed by good looks.

Can you help me?—SUPERFICIAL.

Dear Superficial: People who look for looks have a false sense of values which date back to early childhood. Since this is a deep-rooted emotional thing you may never overcome it completely but you can help yourself by understanding and recognizing it as a personality defect.

Make a conscious effort to rule looks out. And talk to people who have been married a while and ask them how important looks are in marriage. You'll find that beauty is indeed, in the eye of the beholder.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Youngstown Airport May Get New Tower

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—The Federal Aviation Agency claims the present control tower at Youngstown Municipal Airport is inadequate and the government is willing to pay half the cost of building a new $200,000 tower, says Airport Manager Donald F. Glass.

Glass said Tuesday the FAA proposes a 50-foot tower, five stories high and with a glass-walled top story. This would give air traffic controllers an all-around view.

The delay in the issuance of this announcement has been due to the necessities of the investigation which are proceeding in close cooperation between RFE management and the proper authorities," he said.

Radio Free Europe, which does not broadcast to the Soviet Union, began operating in 1951 under C. D. Jackson, President Eisenhower's former adviser on psychological warfare.

The cafeteria was closed.

"The delay in the issuance of this announcement has been due to the necessities of the investigation which are proceeding in close cooperation between RFE management and the proper authorities," he said.

Wilson, operating this week on a limited basis with non-union help, is seeking a return to full production without interference from National Guardsmen now carrying out martial law for the sixth day in the southern Minnesota city.

Gov. Orville Freeman, who called out the Guard last Friday after two days of violence outside the Wilson plant, will appear in court as the sole state witness.

Wilson will seek an injunction against Freeman and the Guard to prohibit continued "seizure" of the plant.

Wilson and the striking United Packinghouse Workers of America are scheduled to resume negotiations in Chicago Thursday, the first talks since Oct. 29. The strike began Nov. 3. The contract expired Sept. 1.

The union charges Wilson with refusal to bargain, coercion and intimidation of union members now on strike, engaging in an illegal lockout and demands by the company for illegal individual agreements from its employees prior to the strike.

Woman Is Injured In Route 30 Crash

Lisbon post highway patrolmen are seeking the driver of the car. Officers said he left the woman and the owner of the auto at the scene of the accident.

Plot to Poison Employees Cited by Radio Free Europe

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Radio Free Europe said today agents of a "foreign Communist power" have attempted a mass poisoning of its employees.

Most of the employees of this privately financed, American station are refugees from Iron Curtain countries.

Erik Hazelhoff, of Mount Kisco, N.Y., Radio Free Europe's European director, said a poison was found Nov. 21 in a number of saltshakers at the station's cafeteria. The cafeteria is frequented by 1,200 employees, who often bring their families.

The director said the substance was analyzed by U. S. Army medical authorities and was found to be a poisonous drug derived from the deadly nightshade plant.

Hazelhoff said the poisoning attempt was disclosed by a Radio Free Europe employee "who also reportedly was using a foreign Communist power for sabotage purposes" has been cooperating with American authorities from the time he was first contacted by the Reds.

"He also revealed the identity of the person who planned these acts and ordered them executed, including this latest one, as being a Communist diplomat stationed in Western Europe acting on the instructions of his government," Hazelhoff continued.

Radio Free Europe's employees are mostly East European refugees.

The cafeteria was closed.

"The delay in the issuance of this announcement has been due to the necessities of the investigation which are proceeding in close cooperation between RFE management and the proper authorities," he said.

Wilson, operating this week on a limited basis with non-union help, is seeking a return to full production without interference from National Guardsmen now carrying out martial law for the sixth day in the southern Minnesota city.

Gov. Orville Freeman, who called out the Guard last Friday after two days of violence outside the Wilson plant, will appear in court as the sole state witness.

Wilson will seek an injunction against Freeman and the Guard to prohibit continued "seizure" of the plant.

Wilson and the striking United Packinghouse Workers of America are scheduled to resume negotiations in Chicago Thursday, the first talks since Oct. 29. The strike began Nov. 3. The contract expired Sept. 1.

The union charges Wilson with refusal to bargain, coercion and intimidation of union members now on strike, engaging in an illegal lockout and demands by the company for illegal individual agreements from its employees prior to the strike.

Potters' Strike History Reviewed

The history of a 23-day strike in late spring—the first general work stoppage in the dinnerware industry in 37 years—was reviewed by Joseph M. Wells, labor committee chairman, in his annual report to the U.S. Pottery Association Tuesday in Pittsburgh.

Reporting at the 81st annual meeting of the manufacturers' group, Wells reviewed negotiations with the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters that led to a settlement of the strike in early May with a contract that runs until Dec. 1, 1960.

But management and union still have been unable to agree on a new seniority clause in the contract, Wells said. He charged that IBOP officers have "advised their members to refuse to comply with the terms of the contract they had signed."

Wells also reviewed several minor work stoppages that hit individual plants within the last year. He declared that the IBOP should "establish specific fines and penalties for violations of the contract that result in wage losses to their own members."

Junior High Faculty Drubs Freshmen 67-52

The freshmen threw 22 men into the battle but to no avail. Thurber was high man for the freshmen with 10 points.

Letters Favor Young's Blasts at American Legion

WASHINGTON (AP)—Correspondents of Sen. Stephen M. Young (D-Ohio) overwhelmingly approve his calling some Ohio American Legion officials loud-mouthed, professional patriots.

Young's office reported today the latest count shows more than 400 backing him on the question, and somewhat more than 20 writers opposing him.

The Hamilton County (Cincinnati) Council of the Ohio American Legion criticized Young for agreeing to address the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee in New York Tuesday night.

The committee, said the Legionnaires, has been cited as a Communist front by congressional committees. It has not been listed as subversive by the attorney general.

Young's blast back at the Legion prompted a man in Brooklyn to reply: "That wonderful statement... makes me wish I were an Ohioan so I might call you 'my dear senator.'"

A Chicago man said: "I am myself sharply anti-Communist and I am sure you are, too. But I would rather have you address a few fellow travelers than to bow to those self-styled authorities on Americanism."

Young's opponents, while small in number at this point, were equally strong in their opinions.

"You are either a liar or much too stupid to serve in the United States Senate, or both," wrote a man in Monroe, Wis.

A Jamaica, N. Y. man said: "I would suggest that you end a perfect evening (after the New York speech) with the beatnik bums in Greenwich Village."

"They, also, think as you do."

One recurring theme in the pro-Young mail is what the writers considered Young's courage in taking on a well organized group like the Legion.

Young says he does not need to worry. He says he won't run for re-election—and he has five years to go.

Tax

reading and then voting upon the proposal were Councilmen Rudolph Linder (R-1) and Arthur Hanna, Republican.

Charging the legislators have been "just about crucified" since they have started the tax bill through the law-making process, Linder stated "it's human nature to overlook anything that's bad until it's too late."

The facts have been available for several years, he declared.

Hanna said, "I think we're delaying something of vital necessity," but he prefaced his remarks by saying he wasn't opposed to hearing what the people have to say about the proposed tax.

Council President outlined the need of the income tax during the regular session of Council last night and warned it might be necessary to cut the police and fire departments by three men if additional income isn't found for next year. He told spectators the issue had been under "careful study" and that there was "no question of need."

Representatives of both firms seeking the job of setting up the tax program in Salem attended the meeting. They were Davis and John Rush, municipal consultant for Brooks & Associates.

Following the session, Davis replied to charges made by his opponents.

Answering a charge that his proposed ordinance doesn't follow the state code, Davis asserted that he was called to Columbus to help with the writing of the state law covering city income taxes.

"The state code was written from my income tax ordinances," he declared.

In answer to a charge that his firm had never completed a house-to-house survey, Davis produced copies of his letters to Alliance, Ravenna, Crestline, East Liverpool and Urbana which described the results of his survey.

Wants Bigger Role

As his allies understand it, De Gaulle wants American forces to remain in Western Europe. But he also wants France to have a bigger role in NATO and a stronger voice in world affairs. And he is looking toward a future, perhaps a distant one, when Western Europe will be able to negotiate with the Soviet Union on equal terms and will no longer need to take shelter under American armed might.

There may be some effort to find a face-saving partial solution to the dispute.

One suggestion is a step-by-step arrangement to unify Western defenses, at least in the air. In return, the alliance for the time being would officially overlook de Gaulle's refusal to accept stocks of U.S. nuclear weapons in France unless he has sole control of them. The United States insists on joint control, a system accepted by Britain and Italy.

Such an arrangement would present a facade of unity to the Russians. But America's top military men, and probably those of other NATO nations, will probably tell their political chiefs privately that it would not do nearly enough to increase the military effectiveness of the alliance.

Salineville

Like Relaxing Aboard Cruiser

Will Meet Tunisia's President Thursday

(AP)—President Eisenhower luxuriated today in his first complete relaxation since he started his three-continent goodwill tour Dec. 3.

After arduous visits to seven nations with his message of friendship in freedom, the President sailed westward in the Mediterranean aboard the U.S. heavy cruiser Des Moines.

He resumes talks on world problems Thursday at a conference with Tunisia's President Habib Bourguiba ashore in Tunisia. Then Eisenhower will return to the Des Moines, flagship of the U.S. 6th Fleet, for a 24-hour cruise to Toulon, France. There he will board a special train for Paris to attend the Western summit conference opening Saturday.

Eisenhower sailed from Athens Tuesday afternoon. At that point he had traveled 13,300 miles and visited seven nations on his 22,000-mile, 11-nation tour.

Within an hour after a helicopter landed him on the Des Moines, he was napping in his stateroom, ordinarily the quarters of the 6th Fleet commander, Vice Adm. George W. Anderson Jr. Shortly after dinner at 7 p.m. the President turned in for the night.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty reported on the President's shipboard life by radiotelephone from the cruiser to newsmen aboard the escorting aircraft carrier Essex, to which Adm. Anderson has moved for the cruise.

Barbara, whose stamina astonished the wives of Athenian officials, seemed glad to rest, too.

Hagerty said Eisenhower—who is apparently standing up extremely well—looked forward eagerly to the three-day voyage. The only disappointing factor was a forecast of gloomy weather for the first 24 hours.

Santa and the ICE KING

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

SYNOPSIS: On their way at last to see the Ice King and talk him into ending the continuous winter, Santa, Oonik and Keotuk the Eskimo dog are preparing to eat and sleep in the igloo Oonik made from blocks of ice.

(Chapter Nine)
AN UNWELCOME VISITOR
"This is the finest house I've ever been in," said Santa as he settled down in Oonik's igloo. "Someday I'd like you to make some igloos for me out of toy blocks of make-believe ice. Do you think children might like them for Christmas?"

"Yes," laughed Oonik, "but not Eskimo children, please!"
Santa laughed, too. "Wait until you see what Mrs. Claus has made for you!" He unpacked the bag on the sled. First he gave Keotuk, the dog, a big hunk of raw seal meat. Then he unwrapped a gingerbread man.

"Is to to cat?" asked Oonik puzzled.

"Certainly," said Santa. "It is delicious." And he ate one himself and smacked his lips with pleasure.

Cautiously Oonik bit into the gingerbread man. It tasted like hay to him. He chewed and chewed and at last with much difficulty he swallowed it.

"It is very good," he said politely.

"Have a cupcake," said Santa. Oonik dutifully ate a cupcake but when Santa offered his another he smiled forlornly and said, "No, thank you."

SANTA HELPED himself to cookies and cake while Oonik gazed longingly at the seal meat Keotuk was devouring. Then, Santa understood. He got out Keotuk's meat and cut off a large hunk of raw seal blubber and put it in Oonik's hands. Eagerly Oonik gobbled it up.

"It's gingerbread," said Santa, "and it's delicious."

Then he smiled happily. "That was good!" he said.

Santa laughed and laughed. "Now I know what to put in your stocking for Christmas," he said.

When they had finished eating they lay down together with Keotuk at their feet and went to sleep.

A long time later they were awakened by a snorting at the other end of the tunnel which led into the igloo. Keotuk sprang to his feet and darted to the tunnel. The sled barred the entrance. The hair on the dog's neck bristled and he spear and said, "I'll get him." Then, while Oonik tied Keotuk to the sled, Santa slid into the tunnel on his stomach.

But Santa was so fat and the tunnel was so narrow he could only just fit into it. It was impossible for him to move forward. He slid back into the igloo.

"We'll have to make the tunnel larger," he said.

"But then the bear can get in before we can get out," said Oonik. "Let me try going through the tunnel. I am small and I can use the spear without leaving the tunnel."

Before Santa could protest, Oonik slid into the tunnel, pushing the spear along in front of him. By now the bear had punched a larger hole into the ice so that not only his nose but his whole face was poking into the entrance. When he saw Oonik he sniffed curiously and tried to come closer. Oonik drew back his arm and, using all his strength, gave a mighty lunge with the spear straight at the bear's face.

The great bear jerked his head with astonishment; his jaws opened and closed on the spear, and, with one powerful tug, yanked it and Oonik out of the tunnel.

Supt. McBride Granted Raise

Age Requirement
Changes Proposed

LISBON—The Columbiana County Board of Education Tuesday night granted School Supt. James L. McBride a $500 a year salary increase, effective Jan. 1.

The superintendent's new salary will be $9,000 a year, with an additional $600 for car expenses.

The board also recommended that county schools require children to be six years of age by Oct. 1 in order to start first grade next year.

Beginning with the 1961-62 term, youngsters should be six by Sept. 1 in order to begin school, the board recommended. County children are permitted to begin school now if they are six by Nov. 1.

The board discussed the possibility of transferring the Hillcrest District which had not merged with Wellsville to the Beaver Local District for transportation purposes. The Hillcrest area is presently part of the Southern Local School District.

No action was taken on the matter.

Members discussed the proposed transfer of a section from Fairfield-Waterford School District to the Columbiana Exempted Village School District.

Members of the Fairfield and Columbiana school districts appeared before the State Board of Education Monday night, but the county board had not heard whether the state group had taken any action.

The affected territory contains 36 students.

Supt. McBride related a recommendation made by Salem School Supt. Paul Smith that county schools join in sponsorship of central classes for children handicapped in hearing and sight.

The closest such schools are at Youngstown, Canton and Steubenville.

McBride said the state would furnish most of the salary for the special teachers.

McBride also suggested that two-year technical classes be established for high school graduates unable to attend college. He said statistics showed that between 65 and 70 per cent of high school graduates do not attend college.

He also reported on the Beaver Local School bus drivers workshop Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the school.

He suggested that all county buses have blinker lights indented in the bodies, and that two-inch black rings be painted around the lights for easier visibility.

Mrs. Marily Solak, high school consultant, and Loren Ruff, elementary consultant, spoke on the high school and grade school courses of study which they recommended. The board took no action on adopting the schedule.

Supt. McBride also reported on county school officials' visit last week to the surplus warehouse in Columbus and on the County Health Department's work in the county schools and exempted village schools.

Dan Furey of Hanoverton, member-elect, attended last night's meeting. The board's next meeting will be Saturday, Jan. 16.

OHIO 5-DAY FORECAST

Temperatures will average 7 to 8 degrees above normal. Normal high 36 north, 40 south; normal low 22-23. Continued mild through Monday, with only minor day-to-day changes in temperature. Precipitation will total about one-half inch in rain about Saturday or Sunday.

—PROJECT MERCURY— Tiny Capsule Is America's Bid to Put Man in Space

The day nears when man will follow the trail of his instrument satellites and venture into space around the earth. For the first American astronaut, who may make the journey by 1961, the vehicle will be a capsule like that, (above left.) The photograph shows a mock-up at the McDonnell plant in St. Louis of the Project Mercury capsule. So far, 20 such capsules have been ordered by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Attached to the top of the top of the capsule in the photo is the escape rocket structure which will blast the capsule away from the launching site in case of trouble. Otherwise, it will be dropped in flight. The planned launching, orbiting and landing sequence is illustrated in panels, (above right.) The first flight will be short, about six hours, but enough for the capsule to circle the earth several times.

The Doctor Says

By HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN, M. D.

Gout Is Chemical Disturbance

Of present concern are three rheumatic diseases frequently observed in older persons.

Unlike some rheumatic ailments, gout is a purely chemical disturbance.

Dr. H. T. Hyman

Recent observations have corrected many misconceptions about gout.

1. Formerly thought to be a disease, it is now known to occur quite frequently.

2. Formerly believed to be a disturbance that only afflicted men of wealth who ate food that was too rich and drank more liquor than was good for them, it is now known to occur in the poor and the abstemious.

3. Formerly controlled only by drugs that produced the unpleasant side effects of nausea and vomiting, it now can be prevented and relieved by preparations that exact no penalty from the sufferer.

ANOTHER of the commoner rheumatic disturbances of older persons is sometimes referred to incorrectly as "degenerative" or "menopausal" arthritis. Neither degenerative nor necessarily related to change of life, osteoarthritis (as I prefer to call it), is probably a manifestation of aging rather than a true disease.

As arteries harden and hairs whiten, the joints of certain patients become thicker, deformed and gnarled like the branches of a venerable apple tree.

Usually associated with overweight, osteoarthritis produces discomfort and pain primarily through disturbed body mechanics. Consequently, relief is best obtained through weight reduction, temporary splinting, corrective exercises and muscle training to gain best use of deformed fingers, toes, arms, legs and back.

THE FINAL category of rheumatic disturbances and perhaps the one most frequently encountered is called "muscular" or "nodular" rheumatism.

Causing insignificant damage to joints, this type of rheumatism primarily involves muscles, tendons, the fibrous envelopes of muscles and joints, and the oil sacs or bursas that provide lubrication for moving parts.

So common is fibromyositis, to use the technical name of this ailment, that you can probably feel tender nodules if you rub your fingers over your own lower back. And, if you prod or pinch the healthy muscles of your shoulder, you will probably discover "trigger points" that are more tender than surrounding areas.

These tender nodules and "trigger points" probably represent torn muscle fibers or the frayed ends of the white fibrous tissue you see when you trim fat from a chop or steak. When a nerve ending gets caught up in these nodules or frayed ends, it hurts like forty devils.

But when your doctor injects the nodule or trigger point with a local anesthetic, the pain disappears almost immediately.

WORKERS TO GET BONUSES

CINCINNATI (AP) — The U. S. Shoe Co., of nearby Norwood, plans to distribute $1,347,967, its all-time high, in profit-sharing and Christmas bonuses to about 4,500 employees. Joseph S. Stern, president of the women's shoe firm, said the sum reflects an all-time high in sales—an estimated 50 million dollars for the year.

Indians Get Redlegs' Ace Second Baseman Johnny Temple

McLish, Martin Are Traded

Don Blasingame
Acquired by Giants

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball's first inter-league trading period ended at midnight, and—as usual—it was Cleveland's Frank (Trader) Lane who got in the last word. Just as the tower clock was striking 12 in Cincinnati, Lane and the Cincinnati Redlegs completed a major inter-league deal that sent ace second baseman Johnny Temple to Lane's Indians in exchange for pitcher Cal McLish, fiery infielder Billy Martin, and a promising young first baseman, Gordon Coleman.

Lane's deal made after experts were saying the pennant-winning Chicago White Sox had strengthened themselves most among American League contenders, topped an old-fashioned intra-league deal that appeared to have climaxed the unprecedented three-week inter-league period.

Earlier in the day, Don (Blazer) Blasingame went West from the St. Louis Cardinals to San Francisco—giving the Giants a stronger infield, increased speed and a sound leadoff batter. To get him, the Giants gave the Cardinals infielder Daryl Spencer, who'll play for St. Louis as a shortstop, and outfielder Leon Wagner.

This one and an earlier inter-league transaction probably made the Giants the winter book favorites for the National League pennant.

The White Sox added power at third base and in the outfield, getting Gene Freese, the homer-hitting infielder, from the Philadelphia Phillies, and Minnie Minoso, an RBI man with speed, from the Cleveland Indians.

To get Minoso, the White Sox had to add the second-place Indians by relinquishing Bubba Phillips, a fine defensive third baseman who can do the job in the outfield, too.

The third-place New York Yankees, apparently stymied both in the National and their own league, once again turned to Kansas City and plucked young, long-ball hitting outfielder Roger Maris. But the Yanks had to part with pitcher Don Larsen, outfielder Hank Bauer and Norm Siebern and first baseman Marv Throneberry, all part-time regulars last season.

The Giants last year traded into contention for the NL pennant when they added pitchers Sam Jones and Jack Sanford. But they weren't quite enough to make it down the stretch. So during the inter-league lapse they grabbed Billy O'Dell and Billy Loes from Baltimore to strengthen both the starting staff and the bullpen. Jackie Brandt went to the Orioles, but the San Francisco outfield remained well stocked with Willie Mays, Willie Kirkland, Felipe Alou and Orlando Cepeda.

The Blasingame deal was a blow to the Braves who have had a second base problem all but two seasons since they moved from Boston in 1953.

Red Schoendienst came from the Giants to Milwaukee in early summer 1957 and spurred the Braves to two straight pennants, but he was missed last year when he was sidelined with tuberculosis. He may be completely recovered this year but he also will be 37 years old.

The Braves were bidding for Gil McDougald of the Yankees, Frank Bolling of the Detroit Tigers and Billy Martin of the Indians to fill the slot at second. They will be almost impossible to get now with waivers back on. Milwaukee also wanted Blasingame.

Conerly, Brown Win Pro Championships

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Chuck-in' Charley Conerly, the old New York Giants pro whom fans once tried to boo out of football, today was named the passing champion of the National Football League. It was his first such title in his 12-year pro career.

As expected, bulldozing Jimmy Brown, the workhorse fullback of the Cleveland Browns, won the rushing title for the third year in a row final NFL statistics released today showed. And the former Syracuse All-America who has been in the league only three years, broke a record for most carries in doing it.

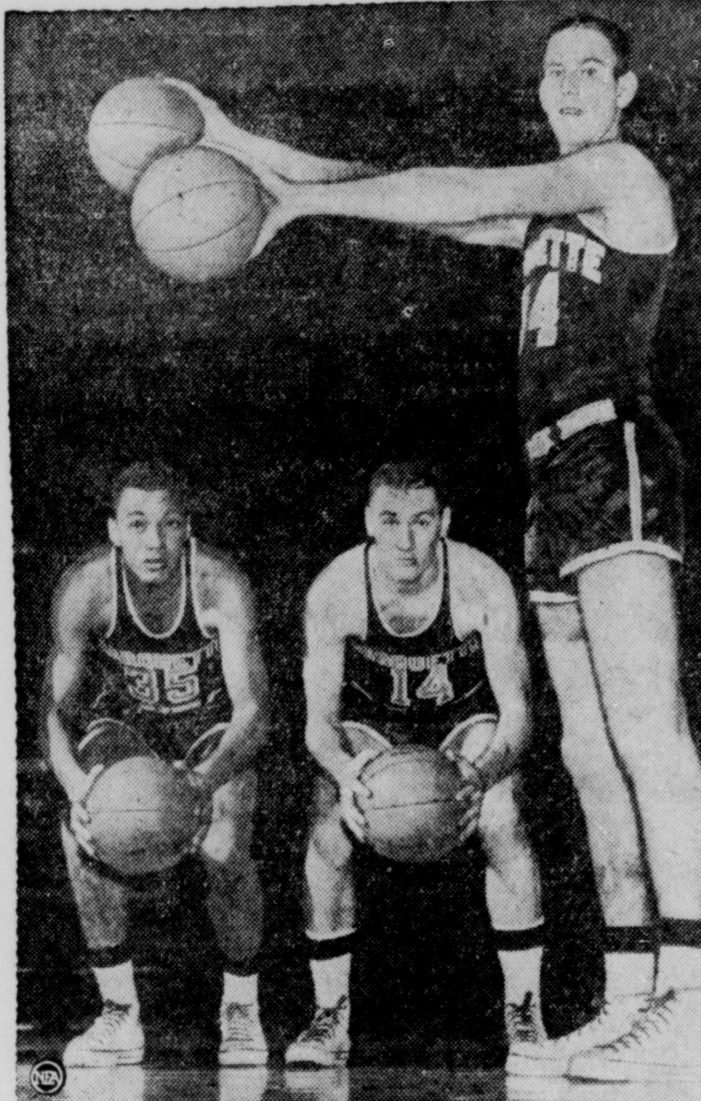

Ray Berry, the Western Division champion Baltimore Colts' all pro end, took the pass receiving crown with the best mark since 1951.

Green Bay's Paul Hornung wrapped up the scoring title with 94 points on seven touchdowns, 31 extra points and seven field goals. The passing championship is based on average gain per pass attempted and Conerly had an 8.79 average on 113 completions out of 194 attempts. Conerly netted 1,706 yards and 14 touchdowns on his passing.

Brown finished the season with 1,329 yards in 290 carries for a 4.6 average. His 290 carries broke the most attempts record of 271 for one season previously set in 1951 by Eddie Price of the New York Giants.

Vanderbilt Beats Georgia

DePaul Overwhelms Purdue For Fifth Straight Victory

By The Associated Press
Time was when DePaul's college basketball fortunes and the scoring feats of big George Mikan were mentioned in the same breath.

The 1943-46 Mikan era was a golden one for the Chicago Demons. DePaul won the 1945 National Invitation Tournament after being runner-up the year before.

It might be a trifle early to tell, but the glory days could return in 1959-60. Before the season got under way Coach Ray Meyer said frankly this could be his best club since the Mikan teams.

The undefeated Demons loom as one of the Midwest's independent powers. DePaul posted its fifth straight victory Tuesday night, overwhelming Purdue 87-65 at home.

Howie Carl, Mikan's scoring counterpart, stands a foot shorter than Big George. Carl, a junior, is 5-9½. His 461 points last season surpassed Mikan's sophomore scoring mark.

The pint-sized basketball operation clicked for 26 points Tuesday night.

Jack Pirrie sparked Vanderbilt to a 79-67 victory over Georgia. Oklahoma State edged Tulsa 41-40. Oklahoma city turned back North Texas 78-64 on 13 free throws in the last five minutes.

Wichita erupted in the second half to whip St. Mary's (Calif.) 74-58. Canisius rallied to down Loyola of Chicago 73-68 and a string of 12 points midway in the second half carried Oklahoma to a 65-57 decision over Southern Methodist.

Navy romped over Brandeis 95-57 for its fifth straight. Penn State handed Syracuse its first loss 80-75. Rutgers spurted for a 51-44 verdict over Penn. St. John's (N.Y.) cleared the bench in outclassing Brooklyn College 88-49 and Richmond rolled over Washington and Lee 71-55.

Goshen Blasts Greenford 48-28

Gophers Paced by Barnett With 16

The Greenford Bobcats Tuesday night gave up their third loss of this season when they fell before the invading Goshen Gophers 48-28.

Lynn Barnett paced the Goshen quintet with seven field goals and two free tosses for 16 points. Also shining for the Gophers was Larry Shreve, who tallied 10 points.

Greenford had a trio of scorers who each tallied six points, Dick Lodwick, Merlyn Bush and Clyde Shoff.

The Gophers led the Bobcats consistently through the quarters, increasing the margin of safety each period. At the end of the first period the scoreboard read 8-2. In the second period the Goshen five pulled farther ahead, bringing the count to 23-12 at the half.

Starting out fresh in the third quarter, the Gophers padded their lead to 36-18 as the final period began.

The Gopher Reserves also outplayed the Greenford squad in the preliminary contest 42-15.

The Greenford Bobcats will face the North Lima Zippers in their next tilt to be played after Christmas.

Goshen's season record is 1-3. The Gopher's next game will be Friday at Western Reserve.

Clark Replaced By John McKay At Southern Cal

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Don Clark, who gave glory-hungry University of Southern California a glimpse of the football fame it once took for granted, resigned Tuesday night.

The university immediately hired a talented but relatively obscure assistant, John McKay, to succeed Clark.

The unexpected announcement triggered speculation—denied by Clark—that there was lingering bitterness within the school over the Mike McKeever incident.

University of California had accused McKeever, a star Trojan guard, of deliberately using his elbows to smash the face of Cal halfback Steve Bates.

Bates was skidding along on his back, out of bounds, when McKeever pounced on him. Clark defended McKeever, but Dr. Norman Topping, university president, apologized. Clark kept silent.

"Everybody suspects something like that and there's nothing there," Clark said. "I have a wife and seven kids and I like to see them occasionally."

He'll leave SC March 1 to take an executive position with a clothing supply firm run by his brother John.

McKay, 36, a University of Oregon backfield coach and pass defense specialist for nine years, was a star halfback with the Webfoots' 1949 Cotton Bowl club. McKay's defensive backfields have been among the strongest on the coast in the last six years.

Radler Sinks 40 as Leetonia Nips Fairfield-Waterford

Lee Radler put on a torrid display of shooting Tuesday night when he netted 40 points to lead Leetonia to a 78-76 victory over host Fairfield-Waterford.

The 6-3 senior came within a point of tying the school's scoring record of 41 points set by John Mandish during the 1955-56 season.

East Palestine Bows to Rayen

Countians Suffer
Initial Loss 50-38

The East Palestine Bulldogs suffered their first basketball defeat of the season Tuesday night when they were trounced 50-38 by a host Youngstown Rayen quintet.

The two squads played neck-and-neck ball throughout the first period, and the score was tied 8-8 at its conclusion.

The eventual winners forged ahead 22-14 in the second frame and held their eight-point margin at the end of the third period 36-28.

Mike Cappolla paced the winners with 18 points, Harris added 12 to Rayen's total.

Willis Woods, Jack Istnick and Jerry Bush each tallied 9 for the losers.

The East Palestine Jayvees lost the preliminary game 51-36.

East Palestine has won two cage contests this year.

Money Is Nice, But Players Hard to Find

WASHINGTON (AP) — A million dollars is nice, but good ball players are hard to find. That evidently is the new motto of the Washington Senators.

The proof: Owner Calvin Griffith turned down half a million for slugging Harmon Killebrew, who lashed 42 homers last season to tie for the American League title. Then he rejected another half million cash for Camilo Pascual, the Senators' ace pitcher from Cuba.

Both offers came from Gabe Paul, general manager of the Cincinnati Reds.

Paul said Tuesday he cornered Griffith under the stands at Washington's Griffith Stadium during an AL game last August. A cloudburst had halted the game. As the deluge drummed on the roof, Paul made his extraordinary cash offer for Killebrew.

Without blinking an eye, Griffith turned him down. As Griffith put it: "You can't play money at third base." That's where Killebrew is stationed when he is not knocking balls out of the park.

Michigan State's two new assistant basketball coaches, Bruce Fossum and Tommy Rand, both come from Green Bay, Wis.

son. Radler's 40 points were amassed on 14 goals and 12 fouls.

The Bears took a 26-20 first period lead and increased their margin to 45-32 by the intermission.

Fairfield-Waterford rallied in the next stanza to slice Leetonia's lead to four points, 59-55.

Each of the quintets scored 29 field goals. However, the Bears connected on 20 of 33 foul shot attempts while the losers managed to sink only 18 of 35 free throws.

Larry Holloway and Jim Franko aided the Bears' cause with 17 and 11 points, respectively.

The victory was Leetonia's first of the season against one loss.

Fairfield - Waterford has now won two and lost two.

The Rebel Reserves won the preliminary game 43-24.

The Rebels will invade United High School Friday while the Bears play their first home game of the season against Beaver Local.

Wilson Jolts Beaver 80-51

One-Sided Contest
Never In Doubt

The Woodrow Wilson Presidents walloped the invading Beaver Local squad Tuesday night, 80-51.

Milansovich led the victors with 31 points, followed by Lilley, who scored 17 markers.

Thurman Allen was the high scorer for the Beavers, tallying 14 points.

The Presidents gained a substantial lead of 22-5 in the first frame, and were in front 36-23 by half-time.

The third period found the Beavers puzzled by the maneuvers of their quick opponents, who hiked their margin to 59-38 in that stanza.

Tonight's defeat brings Beaver Local's record to 2-2.

In the preliminary tilt, the Wilson Reserves also were victorious, 53-31.

The Beavers will seek their third victory Friday night when they journey to Newell.

Eljer Office stumbled to its 12th straight volleyball defeat without a victory Tuesday night at the Memorial Building as they were smashed by Eljer Shipping in three games.

Office is the only outfit in the nine team league still looking for its first win. Their defeats at the hands of Shipping last night were by scores of 15-6, 15-1 and 15-3.

In the other game scheduled last night, Kiwanis forfeited three games to Sekely Industrial. Industrial's record is now 6-12. Kiwanis has won eight and lost 10 games.

Muskingum Trips Wesleyan

Wooster Scores 85-78 Conquest Of Capital

By The Associated Press
Larry Urban, a freshman from Newark, Tuesday night dropped in 12 points in the last half to lead Muskingum to a 74-65 victory over Ohio Wesleyan. The win kept the Muskies atop the Ohio Conference heap.

The 12 points were all that Urban could collect in the game, but they came when the Bishops were threatening to take the lead, Muskingum to a 74-65 victory over at intermission.

Leroy Bell topped the scoring with a 23-point effort for the victors who now own a 4-0 conference mark and have lost only one of five games this season. The Bishops are 1-4 over-all and in the conference.

In the only other conference game of the night, Wooster opened its Ohio Conference year with an 85-78 conquest of Capital. The Scots had won four and lost one in non-league play.

All five of Wooster's starters scored in double figures, Cliff Perkins leading the list with 21 points.

High point honors, however, went to Capital's George Steele who netted 28. The defeat dropped the Lutherans to 1-2 in the conference and 2-3 over-all.

In the other games on the Ohio front, Oberlin swamped Allegheny 91-55, Hiram handed Western Reserve its fifth defeat, 75-71, and Wilberforce topped Cedarville 78-75.

Oberlin's victory was the Yeomen's fourth and kept them among the seven Ohio teams with clean slates. Merrill Shanks tallied 22 for the victors.

Another freshman, Woody Deitch of Salem, came to the forefront for Hiram as he made 9 of his 19 points in a final 10-minute spurt that sent the Terriers to victory. Deitch hit four field goals in a row as Hiram went out of a 58-58 tie into a 71-64 lead.

Wilberforce even its record at 2-2 by downing Cedarville (1-5) despite a 25-point effort by the losers' Pete Reese.

Lowellville Rolls To Fifth Win

Hands North Lima Third Loss 68-36

Undefeated Lowellville rolled to its fifth straight victory Tuesday night when it humbled North Lima 68-36 in a cage contest on the winners' floor.

The game was never in doubt from the start.

The Rockets swept to a 22-9 first period lead and held the Zippers to a mere three points in the second frame while tallying 16 to hold 38-12 bulge at the half.

The Rockets added 18 points in the third stanza to make the contest 56-22 entering the final period. Kenny Camp was the big gun for the Rockets, netting 10 goals and 3 fouls for 23 points. Eight other players tallied for the winners.

James paced the losers with 17 points.

The Zippers' record for the season is now 1-3.

The Lowellville Reserves also won Tuesday night, 43-33.

North Lima's next contest will be Saturday night when it plays host to Lordstown.

The Rockets' next game in regular season play will be Jan. 9 at Western Reserve.

Sports Glances

By DICK BRAUTIGAM

Another school administrator who feels that high school coaches should be "teachers first" is Ward Zeller, executive head of the Springfield Local Schools. Zeller is a former manager of the Salem Memorial Building.

Zeller writes, "The first quality looked for by any administrator, when applicants for coaching positions are being considered is his professional ability as a teacher on the staff. He must be a teacher first."

Zeller feels that coaches should not expect to use school time for carrying on coaching duties.

"I believe the coaches in Salem are paid for coaching duties, all compensate them for the many hours they put in on the job," Zeller wrote. "I think this compensation is a good thing."

"Many schools in our larger systems do not pay extra money for coaching but give time off during the coaching season in which the coach has time to himself to do whatever he pleases. Since there is a compensation for coaching, no matter how small it may be, it stands to reason that the coach's first duty then is to his teaching job first."

"WITHOUT THE school there would be no athletic program. Salem has a fine program in football, basketball and track, with fine coaches doing an excellent job. While there are many critics of elementary athletic competition, I am not one of them."

"I believe in the Mickey McGuire basketball program, see no reason why it couldn't be carried over in the manner put forth by Mr. Bruce, and I think it might be well that we had a Mickey McGuire track meet in which all youngsters would get an opportunity to compete on the same level in track."

"The weakness of the Salem High School athletic program," Zeller opined, "is not in what is already on hand but is the absence of some other programs that could be put in without much other added expense or trouble."

"THE SCHOOL of which I am head at this particular time is one third the size of Salem High School and yet sees fit to offer five sports, track, basketball, baseball, football and cross country."

"Next year when we are hiring new teachers I am going to be on a particular lookout for a man who can not only teach well but who also will have some knowledge of the sport of wrestling, since I feel that this is a fine winter time activity for boys who cannot play basketball."

"It seems to me that the high schools of the state do well to look toward some other athletic form of competition in which some of the carryover sports might be included. While in some parts of the state golf and tennis are played, there are other sports such as volleyball, chess, bowling and archery, which could well be put into the school program giving more and more boys an opportunity to take part in the varsity program."

"I CAN HEAR one major objection to this program and that is the cost. I suggest that an athletic program which fills up Reilly Stadium six times a year and fills the new high school gymnasium up 10 or more times a year is well fixed to carry on this entire program with a slight strain in extra ever but be a slight strain in extra remuneration to those people who might have to coach this sport."

This point of expansion which Mr. Zeller mentions is likely to become a hot issue at the high school before long.

CHANCES ARE that officials of the Junior Baseball program in Salem will be pushing to get that sport back in the high school next year. They will meet strong opposition.

We heard a former successful Ohio high school coach and now a member of a Big Ten college coaching staff candidly remark the other day that to have a really successful high school football program, the administration has to be "for" that sport.

He could have been talking about any sport — track, basketball or baseball. Unless Salem has a unique staff of coaches, the Quaker mentors are going to frown at attempts to add a sport which is likely to compete for players with their pet program.

Any obstacles the school athletic board might throw up against adding certain new sports will be mild compared to the storm which would rage within the athletic department itself.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Tom Smolanovich, an outstanding end for Youngstown University, was signed Tuesday night by the Ottawa Rough Riders of the Canadian Professional Football League.

Smolanovich, a six-foot 190-pounder, caught 33 passes last season. He was team captain, played in the defensive backfield and did all the Penguins' kicking.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By RUFUS LIDE

Oh, for the good old days! Wouldn't it be nice to step back in time to Grandpa's day — that era of prairie chicken by the wagon load, all-you-could-shoot limits of ducks, and deer in abundance.

Yes, enough deer to support a brisk commercial market in a few states.

Since we can't live in the past we have to accept what the present has to offer in our own locality.

Calling by public service and by personal contact, this is what I have come up with regarding the deer kill. Nineteen fell to the hunters' guns, although I saw only two that were taken.

This is not an accurate report of all deer killed and unless the hunters send in the card attached to their permit the complete kill will never be known. Please send in those cards whether or not you got a deer.

THE FIRST DEER I saw taken was a doe shot by Ray Ketchum of East Liverpool. He walked on foot about a half mile from the S. K. Shaffer farm house on Birch Road when the third slug brought it down.

The farm tractor was provided to haul the venison up to the barn where the final dressing out was done. He didn't get enough exercise to work up an appetite.

I could not get the names of all the successful deer hunters but here are a few:

Vern Flora Jr., Lisbon, an 8-point buck, beautiful trophy, head being mounted; Milton Davis and Bob Bradley, Salem, 9-point buck for Milton and a doe for Bob; Rudy Drotleif, Salem, RD, a doe; Pee Wee "somebody" from Dayton, a button buck (this makes his third year of hunting in Columbiana County and he took home the venison each time); Vern Bandy, Homeworth, a doe; and Delmar Israel, Westville, a doe.

A COLLEGE STUDENT from Bowling Green whose last name was Bingle bagged a large doe and hereby hangs a tale. I never saw a happier, more excited young man. I assume the deer weighed around 130 lbs.

He said two does came within 25 feet of him. He downed one and was tempted to shoot the other as there were other hunters nearby. He went on to explain that this was the second deer he ever bagged. He shot the first in Michigan when he was 16 years old.

While in the process of hog-dressing that deer, three burly hunters came up with their guns drawn and said, "get away from that deer kid, we shot it." Naturally he said, "I got away from there fast and they stole my deer."

WHAT HE HAD in mind was to shoot two and if some hoodlum hunters came up to him he would give them one and keep one.

He has a point but I reminded him that all hunters are not "hoodlums" and it could be that if true sportsmen saw him shoot two and reported him, he could get into a lot of trouble.

Incidentally, this young man picked up the deer where it fell, placed it across his shoulders and showing brute strength walked up hill with it, gun and all, and dumped it on the back of the car. Not until then did he stop to blow.

ANOTHER TALE must be told. I witnessed this event. I ran into Bob Kress, RD 5, Louisville, hunting with O. R. Walt, Ronnie and Jack Kress and Harold Bishop of Louisville.

I had just checked them out and we were returning to the cars when a rabbit bounced up in an open field. Somebody said shoot, Jack did. He blew the powder puff off that rabbit along with a good portion of the back end with a rifle slug.

We stepped it off and concluded he killed that running rabbit at 60 yards. Said Bob, with his chest stuck out, "What chance would a deer have if I ever get a shot at one?" OK, Bob, pick up the marbles.

56 Years Since Wright Brothers' Feat

Age of Powered Flight Was Ushered In at Kitty Hawk In Two Brief Hours

(EDITOR'S NOTE: On Dec. 17, the 56th anniversary of the first successful airplane flight by the Wright brothers of Dayton, the Ohio Historical Society and the Department of Public Works will present to the public a painting, "Wilbur and Orville Wright and Their Accomplishments," by Dwight M. Fisher. The following account of that first flight was written expressly for The Associated Press.)

By ROBERT S. HARPER
Historian and Publicist,
The Ohio Historical Society

Two Dayton brothers, Wilbur and Orville Wright, tinkered with what appeared to be a gigantic box kite on the wind-swept sands at Kitty Hawk on the North Carolina coast on the 17th of December in 1903. The Wrights had been there two previous years with a glider. This year they had a gasoline engine on it.

But this fooling around with "flying machines" that didn't fly was getting to be an old story at Kitty Hawk. Stragglers among the sand dunes paid little attention that day.

The Ohioans laid a 60-foot single rail track in the sand near a shack where they had assembled the machine after the parts were shipped from their bicycle shop in Dayton. The weather was cold and they went into the shack frequently to warm their hands over a fire in an old carbide can. When the track was ready about 10 o'clock they hung out a signal to the crew at the Kill Devil Hill lifesaving station that the time had come.

J. T. Daniels, W. S. Dough and A. D. Etheridge came over from the station. W. C. Brinkley of Manteo and Johnny Moore, a Nag's Head boy, also came.

Weighed About 800 Pounds

The machine, weighing about 800 pounds, was brought from the shack with the help of the volunteer crew. It was what was to become known as a biplane, with two fabric-covered sections. It was powered by a four-cylinder engine, shop-made by Charles Edward Taylor, that turned up 12 horsepower.

A strong wind was whipping across the sands, with frequent stronger gusts that rattled the machine's flimsy stays and struts and threatened to overturn it. The hastily collected ground crew looked at it with misgivings.

The general design of the "flying machine" was similar to the glider the Wrights used in their experiments the year before. Unlike the glider, however, this powered machine had skids that extended in front like runners on a sleigh to prevent it from tipping over when landing.

The Wrights knew this occasion was to be an historic one—if the machine flew. They had decided previously, by a flip of a coin, that Orville was to have the honor of the first flight.

The machine had two chain-driven propellers. The engine, weighing about 200 pounds, was set slightly offside so that a man lying beside it to operate the controls would not be crushed by it in a head-first plunge. They started the engine and let it run for a time to warm up.

The throttle was advanced and the propellers whirled like egg beaters. The machine was held fast against the pull of a taut wire. Orville stretched flat on his stomach beside the pounding engine and grasped the controls.

"I released the wire that held the machine to the track and it started forward into the wind," he said. "Wilbur ran at the side of the machine, holding the wing to balance it on the track. Unlike the start of the 14th (a downhill take-off test), made in a calm, the machine started very slowly."

"Wilbur was able to stay with it till it lifted from the track after a 40-foot run. One of the lifesaving men snapped a camera for us, taking a picture just as the machine had reached the end of the track and had risen to a height of about two feet. The slow forward speed of the machine is clearly shown in the picture by Wilbur's attitude. He stayed along beside the machine without any effort."

"The course of the flight up and down was exceedingly erratic, partly due to the irregularity of the air, and partly to lack of experience in handling the machine."

The control of the front rudder was difficult on account of it being balanced too near the center. This gave it a tendency to turn itself when started, so that it turned too far on one side and then too far on the other. As a result the machine would rise suddenly to about 10 feet, and then as suddenly dart for the ground. A sudden dart when a little over 100 feet from the end of the track, or a little over 120 feet from the point at which it rose into the air, ended the flight.

"This flight lasted only 12 seconds, but was nevertheless the first in the history of the world in which a machine carrying a man raised itself by its own power into the air in full flight, had sailed forward without reduction of speed and finally landed at a point as high as that from which it started."

Three more flights were made that day. The second lasted only a second longer than the first, but the distance covered was 75 feet greater. The plane was aloft 15 seconds on the third try, covering 200 feet, and it was tipped by a gusty wind at landing.

Wilbur took controls. The fourth attempt just at noon. This was the most successful by far.

He flew for 852 feet and was airborne for 59 seconds. The troublesome front rudder frame was shattered in the landing.

While everyone stood around discussing the flight, the rising wind caught the machine and it started to overturn. The men grabbed hold of it but were helpless. Over and over the machine rolled across the hard-packed sand, breaking and tearing itself apart. Daniels, caught in the strutting, was carried along with the machine and suffered painful injuries as he was thrown against the engine and the chains.

The Wrights looked at the wreckage and knew the possibility of further flights that year was at an end. Late in the day they got off a telegram to their father, Bishop Milton Wright of the United Brethren Church, anxiously awaiting word in Dayton. This is the text of it:

176 C KA CS 33 Paid via Norfolk, Va.

Kitty Hawk, N. C., Dec. 1
Bishop M. Wright
7 Hawthorne Street
Dayton, Ohio

Success four flights Thursday morning all against 21 mile wind. Started from level with engine power along average speed through air thirty one miles longest 59 seconds inform press home Christmas

Orville Wright 525 P
The message was tapped out on the wire by A. W. Drinkwater, a telegrapher assigned to the Kill Devil lifesaving station.

Via Western Union

"I was up the beach at Currituck the day of the first flights," Drinkwater said. The submarine Moccasin, all 63 feet of her, had grounded there after breaking the tow line of the tugboat that was pulling her from New London, Conn., to Norfolk. This was half of the submarine fleet of the U.S. Navy and a lot bigger news than the message from Orville Wright that was phoned up to me. Our Kitty Hawk telegraph line was on the blink. So I sent the message to Bishop Wright by way of Western Union."

So was ushered in, during the course of two short hours on a deserted beach, the age of powered flight.

Wilbur Wright, born near New Castle, Ind., April 16, 1867, died on May 30, 1912, at the age of 45. Orville, born in Dayton, Aug. 19, 1871, lived to see the age of aviation in full bloom. He died Jan. 30, 1948, laden with honors and the world's homage.

Taylor, who built the engine for the "flying machine," died in San Francisco, Jan. 30, 1955, age 87 years. Drinkwater, the telegrapher, is still living at Manteo in North Carolina.

Columbiana Rotary Learns
Of Mental Hospital Care

COLUMBIANA — Mrs. Lucy Whelan, director of nursing at the Woodside Receiving Hospital was guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club meeting Monday evening at Heck's Restaurant, explaining briefly the institution's program for treating mental patients, and development of the hospital since its opening in 1945.

She explained the hospital is a screening and distribution center as well as an intensive treatment center, and further stressed that not all its patients are psychotic. Some, she added, are neurotic and others are just disturbed.

Mrs. Whelan explained that there is no substitute for personal contact in the treatment of the mentally ill, despite great advances made in drugs in the last few years. She said tranquilizers have played an important role in the mental hospital operation, but deplored their indiscriminate use on the "outside" by countless persons, especially persons driving autos.

arians were Ted Brantingham and Harry Waller of Salem, Eldon Beard of Youngstown and Eugene Smith of Boardman.

A 225-GAME and 570 series earned individual honors for Mrs. Ethel Bricker in Monday Night Ladies Bowling League action.

Heck's Restaurant continues to hold the first place spot although it lost four games to eighth-place Myrt's squad. Heck's has won 36 and lost 20. Runner-up Kyser's Lanes is 34-22.
